CHOOSING DINING TABLE SIZES

SHAPES AND SEATING NUMBERS

HOW MANY PEOPLE CAN IS SIT AROUND MY NEW DINING TABLE?

We are often asked by clients as to how many people or chairs can they can fit around a chosen table? This will vary depending on the size and style of table and also the style of chair you choose. This useful guide will help you determine the correct size of table you will need.

The number of people you seat around a table can normally be worked out roughly from the size of the table top, however it is always a good idea to consider a number of factors to make sure the choice is right for you. It's always good to start with table shape, think about what shape will work in your room. Sometimes circular or oval tables can offer slightly more space in the room but still accommodate the same amount of people as the rectangular or square version.

The position of the table legs can also play a part in determining the seating numbers. Central columns offer the most space around the perimeter of the table, while more traditional legs, positioned on the edge, can offer more space underneath.

Its also always good consider your proposed chair sizes as these can vary depending on design and shape. If in doubt don't worry just contact one of our design team and they will be on hand to help out.

Use the diagrams shown on the following pages to help you to establish the correct size of table for your home. The first diagram shows the number of seats (on the right) that can comfortably be arranged around the size of table top as drawn on the left hand side of the diagram.

Remember: Our design team are always on hand to help out if you have a question or you would like some advice.
